

Yom HaShoa ~ Holocaust Commemoration Day

May 5, 2016 ~ 27 Nisan 5776

at The Reform Temple of Rockland,

330 N. Highland Avenue, Nyack, 7:00, pm

Presenting: Voices of the Generations!

Featuring Julie Kohner, Voices of the Generations, Award-Winning Holocaust-Speaker, and daughter of Hannah Bloch Kohner, the first Holocaust Survivor to tell her story on live national television in America, which will be shown here in Nyack!

One of the few happy endings the Holocaust allowed: Their extraordinary story creates suspense, grim authenticity and impact. -Los Angeles Times. "This incredible true-life story is simply so intriguing."

Hanna Bloch and Walter Kohner met in a small Czech town in 1935. She was fifteen, a romantic who planned to move to the big city. He was twenty and dreamed of being an actor. They ice skated; they danced; they hiked in the mountains; they fell in love. The political climate was changing and they heard about the Nazis, but Hanna and Walter believed that Czechoslovakia was safe. They didn't realize the threat of the Nazis, or how deeply it would change their lives. Eventually they fled. Walter immigrated to the United States and joined the U.S. military. Initially, Hanna worked in Amsterdam, but was later captured by the Nazis and sent to four different concentration camps. Eventually, as an American soldier, Walter would seek-out and find Hanna...

Hanna and Walter not only preserves one couple's memories, but also delivers a powerful personal account of the Holocaust and its atrocities. And it serves as testament that love can prevail over seemingly impossible odds.

The Reform Temple of Rockland, 330 N. Highland Avenue, Nyack, NY 845-358-2248

Sponsored by the Reform Temple of Rockland, with the Holocaust Museum and Study Center, @ Rockland Community College, and Simon & Stefany Bergson